

Penrallt Baptist Church

Newsletter for October 2011

I expect we all enjoy the "where were you when you heard?" kind of reminiscing. It all seems to have kicked off with the assassination of John Kennedy. The speed with which the news and images flashed around the world was something new to us all. It has been followed by the twin towers of 9/11 and other lesser, but memorable events that are forever highlighted in our cerebral memory banks. One that sticks out in my mind was the tragic death of Ayrton Senna one Sunday lunchtime at the Monza circuit in Italy. I had led morning worship at the new church that Susan and I were planting on a housing estate on the periphery of a city called Cuiabá in Brazil. We had intended to relax over an enjoyable lunch with church members as guests in their house. A rare cool breeze had blown up from Argentina, ameliorating the temperature from the usual 39 degrees in the shade to a very pleasant 26. But the television was on. Our attention was held prisoner by the scenes of the crash and its aftermath. Senna was a national hero in Brazil, an eloquent, passionate ambassador for his country. He was a man concerned (ironically) for the safety of his fellow professional drivers, but he also expressed a concern for the plight of the poor in Brazil, a concern stimulated by his Christian Faith. It all came back to me recently when an outstanding documentary film about him was launched in the UK, a film which my children enjoyed but which, inevitably, failed to make it up the A55 to Llandudno Junction. One day it may be on the tv.

There is one deep sadness which always fills me when I think of Ayrton Senna and it is this: he dreamed of using his wealth and fame to establish a foundation dedicated to the poor in Brazil. He dreamed, but he never got around to doing it. He did many other decent and valuable deeds, but the one big dream remained on the back burner until his death. The lesson is obvious. To me it resonates strongly at this time of year when I am inviting people to come and share their Tuesday evenings with us on the Alpha course. Encountering God is the Big One. It is the heart of our existence, the ground of our being, the reason to live. Getting our spiritual life sorted out should take precedence over our bank account, our choice of friends, our profession or our golf swing. But do you know what? People leave it until later. Each day we walk outside of God's will we are losing out on what he has planned for us, but we still put it off until another time.

Please, a thousand times please, don't put off doing Alpha until next year. God wants to meet you in a richer, deeper way now.

God bless,
Peter

Then everyone breaks into small groups when there is an opportunity to chat about the talk and raise any questions you may have. We finish promptly at 9:30pm.

FOCUS ON...

BMS World Mission

Tim & Rosi Deller

servicing in Brazil since 1991

Tim & Rosi have been living in Dourados in the state of Mato Grosso do Sul in south west Brazil, with sons Rodrigo and Richard since January 2007. Tim and Rosi have been working on the Itamarati settlement for the landless. It is the largest Agrarian Reform Project in South America with over 4,000 families, some 26,000 people spread over what was one farm of 50,000 hectares.

The recent focus has been on bringing a strong, thriving, worshipping community into being. The challenge of working for increase in numbers of worshipping members, putting at least minimal structures into place, instilling commitment to the expansion of the Kingdom and preparing the ground for a future handover to another pastoral team has not been easy.

During 2011, it was felt right to concentrate on worship and outreach to children. The gift of a portable PA system has added something to worship and has been a means of outreach and evangelism. The use of sound and images is being explored to the full by the worship team and has been the tool for conversion and one youngster has come to Christ because of the music ministry. As a church community there was a decision to invest in the youngest of the settlement as they realised the need to reach the children as early as possible with the transforming message of Christ. In addition, they trained half a dozen of the youngsters to evangelise through sporting activities

Tim and Rosi's time in Dourados and working on the settlement is coming to a conclusion at the end of the year. After a period of home assignment in UK they will be moving on to new pastures with BMS. In the meantime, they are working to tie up loose ends. They are preparing the way for transition which means housing for who comes after them, and a salary etc. Please pray for the Dellers, the church on the settlement and BMS during this period of change.

The Harvest Service on Sunday 9th October will focus of the work of BMS World Mission in Peru and there will be an opportunity to donate to the Harvest Appeal.
